ANOTHER MUTINY IN THE BAY.

As the steamer John M. Woodworth, of the Marine Hospital Service, was making her morning trip to Bedloe's Island yesterday. Capitain Laughlin observed the American flag at half-mast, Union down, on the American ship W. R. Grace, which arived from Liverpool Saturday, and was at anchor off Bedloe's Island. He ran his steamer alongside the ship, and before reaching her saw a boarding-house runner scramble over the side and row away in a small beat. Capitain Laughlin found that Capitain Black was on shore. The mate told him that the boarding-house runner had induced six of the sailors to promise to go on shore with him to be shipped on board another vessel at advanced wages. The mate told the sailors that if they attempted to leave the ship he would put them in irons, and ordered them to go to work. They disputed his authority, and threatened him with violence if he attempted to obstruct their freedom. In these threats the "runner" took part with the sailors. The mate then set signals of distress. Capitain Laughlin called the sailors aft and told them that unless they desisted from mutinous conduct he would put them under arrest and transfer them to the revenue cutter Grant. The sailors promised to return to duty.

At the Tombs Police Court yesterday afternoon, before Justice Otterbourg, the ten men who were arrested on board the Nova Sectian bask Cornwallis Saturday, for muting, were arraigned on a charge of assault made by Arthur Kingsman, the second mate. He complained that while the vessel was sanchored in the river, the accused scamen assaulted him, and after he drew a pistol in self-defence they refused to work. He was corroborated by the first mate. One of the seamen named Petit denied the charge, and said that the men were working all day without food. The officers were very exacting, and Petit threatened to use his revolver. The prisoners were all discharged. ANOTHER MUTINY IN THE BAY.

THE DANGER OF OPEN PENKNIVES.

THE DANGER OF OPEN PENKNIVES.

The mysterious death of James Donahue, a little lad eight years old, who fived with his mother at No. 90 Catherine-st., was unexpectedly cleared up yesterday morning. About 9 o'clock Sunday night the boy was given some pennies to buy some fruit at a neighboring stand. Darting out of the door he started to run down the street. In a moment he came back, and, staggering up to the door, said to his eldest sister: "Kate, a boy as big as you are stabbed me." This was all he was able to say. The boy's breast had a small wound in it, from which blood was flowing. Upon the advice of a neighbor he was at once taken to the Oak Street Police Station, and subsequently to the Chambers Street Hospital. In about two hours he died, the instrument having pierced the aorta.

It was thought Sunday night by the police that the wound had been inflicted by a boy living in the same neighborhood, with whom young Donahue was known to have had some difficulty about a ball. But this theory was not sustained. William Emperor, age eighteen, living at No. 31 Rooseveltst., went to the Oak Street Station yesterday morning, and told the officer in charge that he wished to give himself up. He said that he had accidentally caused Donahue's death. His story was to the effect that he was standing in the street with an open penknife in his hand. Just as he swing his arm back to prevent a fricud with whom he was talking from taking it from him. Donahue ran against the blade of the knife. The police are disposed to credit the story, as there appears to be an utter lack of motive for assault. Emperor's employer, a merchant in Nassau-st., says that Emperor Las been faithful in his duties and he knows nothing against the young man's character. The prisoner was taken to the Tombs to await an investigation of the case.

The mother of the dead boy, who is in destitute tireumstances, was nearly beside herself with grief pesterday. She sat up all the night before crying with her children around her.

THE MAYOR'S NOMINATIONS.

THE MAYOR'S NOMINATIONS.

The Mayor will not send in to-day to the Board of Aldermen any nominations to fill the vacancies in the various Commissions. They will probably be sent in to the Board at a special meeting to be held Thursday or Friday. There seems no doubt that Mr. Matthews will be renominated for Police Commissioner, as he has served so short a time since his appointment as the successor of General Wm. F. Smith. Colonel Wm. A. Roberts will be nominated as Tax Commissioner in place of John N. Hayward. Who will succeed Vincent C. King as Fire Commissioner is an open question. It has been asserted that ex-Alderman Henry D. Purroy would be named, but this is not deemed likely, became Tammany Hall has already a representative in the Fire Commission in the person of John J. Gorman. Mr. King is an applicant for renomination, and Hugh H. Moore is pressed by Commissioner Thompson and others. Townsend Cox, it is understood, is not anxious for a renomination as Commissioner MacLean has been spoken of, and one or two others. For Park Commissioner in place of Wm. M. Olliffe, there is a fair chance that Mr. Olliffe may be named as his own successor. There are few seeking the place, for the reason that there is no salary attached to it.

For Dock Commissioner, Mr. Dimock seeks a renomination, and he and ex-Alderman Marshall are the only ones prominently named. There is a strong probablity that all the names will be laid over by the Board for future consideration.

THE ALLEGED UNDERWRITING.

The Whittaker Court Martial took a livelier turn yesterday. Ex-Governor Chamberlain was absent from illness, and his place was filled by Professor Greener. The witness called was Charles K. Burt, an engraver for many years connected with the Treasury Department. He is one of the experts who were privately examined in March by Major Gardner, for the purpose of obtaining testimony Gardner, for the purpose of obtaining testimony regarding the alleged underwriting in the note of warning. Mr. Burt, however, failed to discover any warning. Mr. Burt, however, failed to discover any audit hook. My discovery of the defalcation came from finding entries of the amounts paid by the Commissioners to make it up.

Mr. Williams then produced the cash book of the "sun-side of the "sun-side of the suppose of the "sun-side of the cash book of the "sun-side of the cash book of the "sun-side of the cash book of the sun-side of the cash book of the onake it up. regarding the alleged underwriting in the note of warning. Mr. Burt, however, failed to discover any indications of such underwriting, and was called by the defence to disprove its existence. Photographs were put in the hands of the witness, purporting to be from the same negatives as those used by Mr. Southworth. Major Gardner objected to the use of these papers, as not having been put in evidence and as not identified, and some wrangling ensued, and finally the Court retired for private consultation with the Judge-Advocate, who consented to withdraw his objection.

The witness said that Mr. Southworth pointed out to him the alleged underwriting on the photographs that were examined, but he was unable to see anything of the kind. The mottled surface of the photograph might be imagined to show many things, but there was no distinguishable underwriting.

The Court adjourned until this morning.

PNCOURAGING OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

A number of persons met in the Sixth District Court-room at Fourth-ave, and Eighteenth-at, last night to organize an association for the encouragement of out-door athletic sports, such as base-ball, cricket and lawn-tennis, at least on one afternoon in each week. More were present last night than at the previous meeting. The project was received with much enthusiasm by all present and several names were added to the list. Representant several manes were added to the list. Representatives from many local athletic and base-ball clubs were present. Messrs. Myers, Wordsworth, Martin and Blodgett were appointed a committee to talk with the managers of the Polo Grounds to see if it would be possible to secure a portion of the grounds for amsteur base-ball playing. If this can be accomplished visitors to the grounds can watch a professional and amatenr game at the same time.

The meeting was adjourned until Friday evening next at the same place, when the organization will elect officers. Among those present were N. B. Wordsworth, of Columbia College; R. B. Martin, of the Fordham Athletic Club; J. Persell, of the Arlington Base Ball Club; E. S. Odell, from the Steinways; J. M. Pollack, of the Knickerbocker Club, and J. V. BUSINESS TROUBLES.

The failure of the Napanock Rolling Mill Company, of No. 28 Platt-st. and Napanock, Ulster County, N. Y., is reported. The company was or ganized February 1, 1880, with an authorized capital of $25,000, but was never successful, and has been run at a loss since it started. W. W. Frazier, r., of Philadelphia, one of the principal stockholders, recently obtained a judgment against the concern for $21,149, which was placed in the hasds of the Sherif. The property, which consists of the mill machinery and real estate at Napanock, will not, it is thought, realize the amount of the judgment. BUSINESS TROUBLES.

DENYING THAT HE IS THEOPHILUS YOUNGS.

Richard Goddard, Layham F. Anderson, and John B. Stephenson yesterday confronted the alleged Theophilus Youngs to his face before Referee Underhill, and told him plainly that he was not himself—or at least that he was not the husband of Mrs. Theophilus Youngs. Mr. Goddard said that the identity of Mr. Youngs was a matter peculiarly within his knowledge, as he had ran away with the thirteen-years-old step-daughter of Mr. Youngs, and afterward married her. In the course of the delicate and intimate relation of Mr. Goddard with Mr. Youngs, which finally matured into that of step-bon-in-law is isvitem, the witness learned that Mr. Youngs had a silver plate in his head in the place of a part of the skull which had been carried away by a musket-ball in the New-York riots. The claimant was unable to produce anything but a whole and unbroken skull, without the slightest vestige of a giver plate. The examination will be continued to-day.

WAS HE ELECTED LEGALLY?

The Board of Education of Jersey City met last evening for organization. The Rev, Cornelius Brett, pastor of the Bergen Reformed Church, who was elected on the Anti-Monopoly-Democratic fusion ticket and who refused to serve, was absent. This left five Republicans and six Democrats. Dr. John D. McGill, who was president of the Board last year, was nominated for reelection. He received the votes of six Democrats, and was declared reelected. The Republican members claimed that it took seven votes—a majority—legally to elect a President, and a scene of disorder followed. The Democratic members claimed that Dr. McGill had been legally reelected, and when he took the chair the Republican members arose in a body and left the room. This left the board without a quorum and it adjourned.

A COMMISSIONER CORRECTED. STATEMENT OF THE CORPORATION COUNSEL CON-CERNING OLD CLAIMS OF THE DOCK DEPARTMENT,

In the investigation by the Assembly Committee of the workings of the Dock Department, Commissioner Jacob Vanderpoel testified that accounts aggregating $187,734 79, mostly due for wharf rents, had been placed in the hands of the Corporation Connsel, and that of this amount only $520 had been collected. The Corporation Counsel yesterday gave a reporter of THE TRIBUNE a statement of the present condition of these accounts.

These have been accumulating since 1870, and some of them were outlawed four years ago. A letter addressed by Corporation Counsel Whitney to the Dock Commissioners in March, 1880, acknowledges the receipt of a communication from them dated November 21, 1879, inclosing the statement of sundry uncollected accounts placed with the Law Department from time to time for collection. The items amount to $183,559 73. Mr. Whitney stated that he had caused a careful investigation to be made, and had found that the first affect accounts, aggregating $85,581 21, had never before been received by the Law Department for collection. In other cases no data had been received on which to base the suits for collection, and in still others suits had been instituted, judgments obtained to the amount of $5,500, and return made to the Dock Department. Among the claims was one of $23,142 92, representing the amount embezzled by a former bookkeeper of the Dock Department, W. W. Buruham. When steps were taken by the Corporation Counsel to institute suits against Burnham, it was found that he had run away. For these reasons Mr. Whitney asked that $73,554 06 be deducted from the total amount, leaving a balance of $110,005 still to be collected. Since then a few small claims have been sent to the Law Department to be collected on behalf of the Dock Department.

On April 23, 1881, Mr. Whitney sent another letter to the Dock Commissioners, setting forth that he had caused action to be taken against various leasees of dock property, and in many of these judgments had been recovered in favor of the city, making a total of $61,461 61 principal, and $17,153 33 interest and costs. or a total of $78,614 94. This leaves $48,544 still in suit. Referring to the letter of March, 1889, Mr. Whitney again calls the attention, of the Dock Commissioners, who have in effect admitted that the time in which suit could be begun for their recovery will expire may 10 of the present year. This communication has been acknowledged by the Dock Commissioners, who have These have been accumulating since 1870, and some of them were outlawed four years ago. A

This patent, the Weston Company avers, involves the principle of regulating a large number of lights on a single circuit of wire—a principle which has nothing to do with the Edison patent or that of the United States Company, whose lights are incandescent. Mr. Weston alleges that he was the original inventor of the differential magnet; that Mr. Brush, who made the same claim, disputed the priority of invention before the Commissioner of Patents, and that about two weeks ago the Commissioner gave an absolute decision in Mr. Weston's favor, and issued the patent to him. The latter now seeks to sustain in the courts his invention against the alleged infringement.
